Overview:

In 2020, as part of the Families First Coronavirus Response Act, Congress passed, and President Trump signed a pause on Medicaid dis-enrollments to ensure health coverage was protected for children and families during the pandemic. The easing of these rules helped prevent people with Medicaid and CHIP—in all 50 states from losing their health coverage during the pandemic. Idaho Department of Health and Welfare (IDHW) has called this “Medicaid Protection.” States are required to restart Medicaid and CHIP eligibility reviews as these coverage protections expired on March 31st, 2023. This leaves many Idaho families at risk of losing health insurance and experiencing gaps in coverage.

Some families will need to transition to a new coverage source, but many will remain eligible for Medicaid. Historically, when renewal practices change – individuals experience lapses in coverage over something as simple as a renewal letter getting lost in the mail, not because they are ineligible. Some children will need to transition to CHIP; their parents may become eligible for subsidized coverage on the health insurance exchange.

Some States began the renewal process as early as 60 days in advance of April 1st, 2023. IDHW has identified approximately 153,837 Medicaid participants who will need to go through a renewal process.

In order to mitigate call volumes and to ensure a manageable workload, IDHW announced they will send out renewal notices in batches, aiming to send out renewal notices to 30,000 participants per month. IDHW mailed renewal notices to the first group of Medicaid enrollees on February 1st, 2023. Households will receive a notice with a pink address block; this indicates that the household needs to complete a renewal and will have 60 days to complete their renewal process to prove eligibility, or they could lose coverage.

For individuals receiving Medicaid as a result of this special protection, a pink notice will be mailed so that participants understand their Medicaid coverage will discontinue if they do not contact IDHW. Customers should complete the requested information as soon as they receive it.

Customer Communication: Medicaid Protected 11

 Customer affected by Medicaid Protection will receive a PINK ADDRESS BLOCK letter

The sample letter is from the Idaho Department of Health & Welfare. It shows a pink address block for "Mario Mario" at "PO BOX 12345 BOISE, ID 12345-1234". Below the address, there is a blue redacted section containing the text "Medicaid Protection and the Public Health Emergency provided continued Medicaid coverage for individuals who may have otherwise been ineligible". At the bottom, it says "Specific language in development".

Letter includes:

- Explanation of end of Medicaid Protection
- Date customer's protection will end
- Instructions to complete re-evaluation
- Customer support contact information

Households without people receiving Medicaid protection will receive a blue notice letting them know that they are not impacted by Medicaid protection ending and there is nothing they need to do at this time.

Customer Communication: Non-Medicaid Protected 12

 Customer unaffected by Medicaid Protection will receive a BLUE ADDRESS BLOCK letter

The sample letter is from the Idaho Department of Health & Welfare. It shows a blue address block for "Mario Mario" at "PO BOX 12345 BOISE, ID 12345-1234". Below the address, there is a blue redacted section containing the text "Medicaid Protection and the Public Health Emergency". At the bottom, it says "Specific language in development".

Letter includes:

- Explanation of end of Medicaid Protection
- Explanation that this will not affect customer's Medicaid benefit
- Customer support contact information

A second notice will be sent as a reevaluation reminder via mail and a text message will be sent to all Medicaid customers approximately 30 days before their renewal is due. The second notice will remind customers to complete their renewal application before the due date, or their benefits will close. The renewal notices will include contact information to complete their reevaluation with self-reliance.

Hello! We have important information for your household.

Our records indicate that the household member(s) listed below have not completed a re-evaluation for continued Medicaid benefits.

[991 Member] [992 Member] [993 Member]

To ensure you do not lose your Medicaid benefits, you must re-evaluate as soon as possible using the information below, or your Medicaid benefits will end on December 31st, 2020.

What you need to do

Complete your re-evaluation by providing updated household and income information as soon as possible using one of the methods below:

Log in or register at idahohs.idaho.gov. Once logged in, follow the prompts to complete your re-evaluation and upload copies of your verification documents. Once submitted, you can track the status of your application online.

Call us at 1-844-559-2664, Monday through Friday, 8:00 AM-4:00 PM (MT), to complete your re-evaluation. You may also choose to provide verification documents via mail, email, or fax.

Mail: Medicaid Benefits Program
P.O. Box 12345
Boise, ID 12345-1234
Fax: 1-800-434-8279 (toll free)

Next Steps/Questions

After you complete your re-evaluation, you will receive a notice containing the results of your re-evaluation. If you have any questions, please call the Medicaid Benefits Program at 1-800-434-8279.

Letter includes:

- Reminder to complete re-evaluation
- Warning of potential end of benefits
- Instructions on how to complete re-evaluation
- Customer support contact information

Individuals who are no longer eligible for Medicaid may be referred to Your Health Idaho to sign up for a health insurance plan on the health insurance exchange with a tax credit. If referred to Your Health Idaho, individuals will receive a notification with an access code that they can set up their online account. Once the online account is set up and their application is submitted, they will immediately know the amount of a tax credit they qualify for and can enroll in a plan that suits their needs.

Messaging Guide:

This guide includes messages to help stakeholders working with Medicaid enrollees communicate about the end of Medicaid Protection, encourage renewal completions, and share information to maximize successful coverage transitions for those no longer eligible for Medicaid. This guide:

- Gives a framework to build communications tactics that will educate stakeholders and Medicaid enrollees about what to expect and actions to take during the unwinding of Medicaid Protection.
- Includes key messages stakeholders can customize and use in their own communications efforts.

This guide is informed by qualitative research, which identified knowledge gaps, barriers, and messaging suggestions. This guide also incorporates insights and suggestions from The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) communications guide.

Key Message Insights

Focus group research was conducted in several states to help advocates and stakeholders understand which messages motivated action by Medicaid enrollees.¹

Move away from the “Public Health Emergency” phrasing.

Most participants had not heard of the PHE and many found references to the Public Health Emergency to be confusing, aggressive, or scary. They also did not know that Medicaid renewal rules were changing https://static1.squarespace.com/static/5f738fd66b64850866b2313d/t/62f519e41d09863a902f2768/1660230117928/PHE+Focus+Group+Report_Final+8.2.pdf

and that it could impact their health coverage. This was particularly frightening for Spanish-speaking participants who did not know what it meant for them.

Emphasize that the “Medicaid rules have changed.”

Participants found this framing both informative and less threatening. They resonated with this clear, simple, and direct way of telling them they should look into the new renewal process. Enrollees who were unsure about the PHE felt that this was much less confusing.

When possible, include important dates.

Many enrollees believed that the date when the PHE ends is the most important piece of information. Participants wanted to know when the rules were changing so they could prepare documents and plan ahead.

Use the term “renew” in messages and notices.

Participants felt that this was the most familiar and clearest description of what needs to happen. Other terms and phrases tested (“re-enroll” or “confirm your eligibility”) cause confusion or have different meanings for some.

Messaging for Medicaid Enrollees

As Medicaid enrollees wait for their renewal notice, it is important to obtain updated contact information from enrollees to ensure IDHW can reach them when it's their time to renew.

Top Message to Medicaid Enrollees:

Make sure Medicaid has the correct mailing address, phone, and email contacts to reach you with important updates about your health insurance.

Top Phrases for Motivating Action

These phrases were tested in the focus groups and identified as top motivators for Medicaid enrollees taking action that apply to this phase of the unwinding.

“The rules are changing.”

Enrollees found this phrasing to be direct and easily digestible. There was no fluff or confusing wording around the end of the PHE. This succinctly captures what they need to know.

“It only takes 10 minutes.”

Enrollees found this phrase compelling, especially as they navigate their busy lives. Given the often-long wait times at Medicaid call centers, this language may be more appropriate in messaging around online resources and how quick it is to update addresses online.

Research Insight: Many consumers report changed life circumstances, including a move, loss or gain of job, and/or the addition of a new child over the past few years, and ensuring that Medicaid has the most up-to-date information can be key to a smoother renewal process. Use simple, direct language to encourage enrollees to provide updated information. Ask about changed life circumstances as a reason to encourage enrollees to connect with you. Ask for updated information to reach individuals across communications channels and encourage those with touchpoints to engage enrollees too.

Other Key Messages:

- Moved in the past three years? Has your address or phone number changed? Make sure your health insurance moves with you.
- Have you moved in the past few years? Has your address or contact information changed? Take a moment today to confirm that Medicaid/CHIP has the correct mailing address, phone number, and email address on file so we can reach you in case of any changes to your health coverage. You may be notified of steps you need to take to keep your coverage. Visit <https://idalink.idaho.gov/> or call 877-456-1233 to update your contact information today.
- Medicaid renewals are back. Many were paused during COVID. There are steps that can take now to help minimize any interruption to your coverage. To get ready, make sure Idaho Medicaid knows where to send your renewal letter -- if you've moved or your contact information has changed, make sure Idaho Division of Medicaid has your current address, email, and phone number. Visit <https://idalink.idaho.gov/> or call 877-456-1233 to update your info today.
- Has your address or contact information changed? Make sure up-to-date contact information is on file so you can be reached with important updates about your MEDICAID/CHIP health insurance. Please provide your current mobile phone number, email, and mailing address to the customer service representative so records are up to date. It only takes 10 minutes and your information will not be shared. Visit <https://idalink.idaho.gov/> or call 877-456-1233 to update your contact information today.

Scams Messaging

As states work through their Medicaid redetermination processes, scams have become a growing concern for state and federal agencies. There have been reports of scams targeting potential/current Medicaid enrollees by asking for financial compensation over the phone to retain Medicaid coverage and/or offering enrollment in fake or misleading plans. To ensure families going through the redeterminations and enrollment process know how to protect themselves from scams and bad actors we have developed English and Spanish-language social media posts below.

Re-enrollment Messaging

As states work through their Medicaid redetermination processes, we have developed the below English and Spanish-language social posts to ensure families who have lost Medicaid understand their options. These posts target families who:

- Did not respond to a notice in time, but may still be in the 60-day reconsideration period and eligible to re-enroll in Idaho Medicaid
- Lost Idaho Medicaid coverage for procedural reasons but remain eligible to re-enroll
- May be eligible to transition to the State-based Marketplace, Your Health Idaho (for adults)

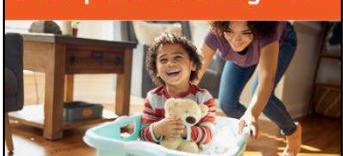

Messaging Templates

These template communications resources can be customized by states to encourage enrollees to update their contact information including phone number, mailing address, and email. Some examples can be copied and pasted, others include links to downloadable documents that can be used or edited.

English	COVID-19 Public Health Emergency and Changes to Medicaid Coverage: Answers to Your Frequently Asked Questions: <ol style="list-style-type: none">1. What changes are coming to Medicaid and CHIP eligibility? If you or a family member has health coverage through Idaho Medicaid or the Children's Health Insurance Plan there are important steps you need to take. In most cases you were able to keep your Medicaid during the COVID-19 pandemic, even if there was a change in your household situation. This special rule has ended.2. What does this mean for me? This means that you or a family member may be disenrolled from Medicaid or CHIP if you don't complete a renewal. The Idaho Department of Health and Welfare will contact you if a renewal is needed. However, Idahoans who are not eligible for Medicaid will be referred to Your Health Idaho, a state-based health insurance marketplace for purchase. Coverage can be purchased at Your Health Idaho:<ol style="list-style-type: none">a. Within 60 days of losing Medicaidb. Or anytime during Your Health Idaho's Open Enrollment Period.In addition, you or a family member may be eligible for a tax credit to help pay for health insurance through Your Health Idaho, the Idaho state-based health insurance marketplace. Your Health Idaho may then contact you about your eligibility for the tax credit and how to enroll in health insurance.Visit yourhealthidaho.org or call 855-944-3246 for more information.3. What should I do next? The Idaho Department of Health and Welfare (IDHW) will send out pink notices with instructions to all families who need to complete a renewal. Sometimes IDHW can make a benefit determination without talking to you. The most important thing to do now is to make sure you update your contact information – it only takes 10 minutes to visit https://idalink.idaho.gov/ or call 877-456-1233 or email mybenefits@dhw.idaho.gov to ensure they have your current mailing address, phone number, email, or other contact information. This way, they'll be able to contact you about your Medicaid or CHIP coverage. If you need help, your local community health center can help you make sure your information is up to date.4. When will the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare send notices for Medicaid/CHIP renewals? The Idaho Department of Health and Welfare began notifying the families that need to submit renewal paperwork on February 1st, 2023. To reduce the volume of renewals, notices are being sent out in batches, meaning some families may not receive a notice until July.

	5. If I received Medicaid coverage for which I would not have normally been eligible, do I have to pay that back?
